administration

our building . . . combines the old with the new. A venerable past with a successful present and a hopeful future. For a quarter of a century its halls have echoed with the laughter of youth; in its comfortable classrooms thousands of students have learned how they may better cope with life's problems and grasp its opportunities.

Union High School number four, a unit in one of the finest state educational systems in the country, was a pioneer in introducing the reformed curriculum; it remains a model of student government.

superintendent g. w. greene . . . whose efficient business management and untiring initiative has brought to our school much of its success and popularity.

principal t. h. muncaster . . . who keeps up the morale and looks after the business of the Associated Student Body.

the faculty

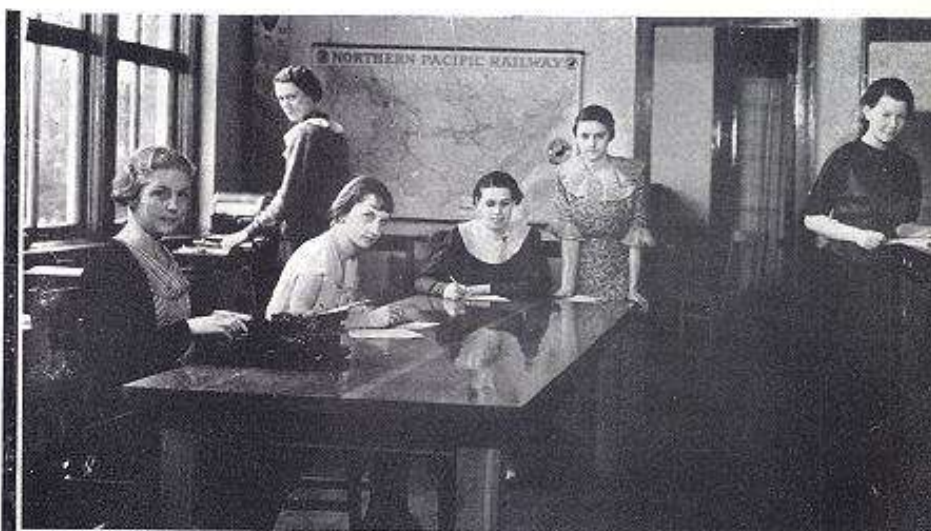

... a trained staff to prepare students for future efficiency. Their faithful service proved their loyalty to the school on numerous occasions; without their cooperation many A.S.B. projects could not have succeeded.

First row: John Wyngarden; John Monroe; Glenn Hall; Philip Hogan; W. E. Ward, M.A.; Donald W. Armstrong, M.A.; A.D. Foster; Louis Hull; Grace M. Fischer.

the office staff

... completed a year of efficient service for the school. The personnel: Eldeen Jensen, Jean Richmyer, Marie Miller, Beth Sumner, Kathleen Karwaski, Lois Jones.

the executive council

... makes and executes rules governing the actions of the A. S. B. First row: S. Ewing, F. Jeffrey, M. Nelson, L. Lammers, J. Christofferson. Second row: J. Minkler, B. Ferguson, C. Pressentin, T. Kirkpatrick, J. Carlson.

the freshmen

... one hundred and fifty of them; ambitious, happy, and full of life; ready to help, willing to learn. They faithfully supported student activities. For class officers they chose: Troy Hoffman, president; Clarence Latham, vice-president; Dorothy Stave, secretary-treasurer. On the executive council they were represented by Jack Minkler. Their song leader is Josephine Runck; their yell king, Billy Candler.

the sophomores

... with only one mile post behind and three more ahead, they have already proved their ability in many fields of achievement. In the all school play they were represented by Betty Evans and Vertamae Black; on the debate team by Peggy Swartz. Their officers: Kenneth Robinson, president; Norma Dahlin, secretary; Art Nelson, vice-president; Ray Normark, treasurer. Helen Niznik is song leader; Albert Riggs, yell leader.

the game demands speed; coordination of eye and muscle; alert minds; cooperation. White bodies glistening with perspiration flash and pivot across a polished floor. A player shoots. The crowd grows tense; some stand. The ball falls and one side cheers. The other sinks back on the benches.

Fortunately, the success of a sport's season is not measured by the scoreboard alone. Every game played means a lesson in sportsmanship and additional experience for the team. With six lettermen returning, prospects for the future are bright.

coach wyngarden

... brought the gayety and romance of an Austrian carnival to the high school auditorium when the most successful musical comedy staged here in recent years was presented under the direction of Mr. John Monroe. Members of the school orchestra furnished the orchestral accompaniment and Miss Ruth Laubscher directed the acting.

Leads were held by Katherine Greene and Don Jones in the roles of Ilona and J. Jennings Jones and by Jessie Guernsey and John Bishop as June Pennington and Arthur Crefont. Other members of the cast were: J. Wilcox as Hans Maier; M. Sickler, Louisa, the maid; F. Bock and A. Nemo, Bumski and Rumski; B. Davis, Jigo; C. Thresher, Jonas Pennington; R. Barr, Lady Vivian; N. KUMTUX RETROSPECT

AUTUMN, SEDRO-WOOLLEY HIGH SCHOOL

NO. 1

CUBS KEEP PENNANT

ALL-SCHOOL PLAY

October 19—"The Patsy", All-School Play, under the direction of our new dramatic coach, Ruth Laubscher, was one of the most successful presentations of the year.

Caroline Pressentin realistically portrayed the role of Patsy, the young, abused daughter, who never did anything to suit her sister or her mother. Tony, the ex-fiance of Patsy's older sister, Grace, was played by Billy Biggerstaff.

Earle Flood and Betty Evans gave splendid interpretations of Mr. and Mrs. Harrington. Mrs. Harrington, the social climber, always hen-pecking her traveling salesman husband. The part of Grace, the older sophisticated daughter, was taken by Clara Foote. Terry Adlington was a likeable Billy Caldwell, a young rich playboy.

Byron Conner, Vertamae Black, and Curtis Thresher were all good in their minor roles.

HI-NITE

Nov. 23—"See America First", was the motif used throughout the entire performance of the annual school vaudeville.

The four main acts, Hansel and Gretel, Woolley Westerners, Minstrel Show, and the Blue Mouse Cabaret were uniquely introduced by George Burns and Gracie Allen. These comic characters were portrayed by Blake Thompson and Jessie Guernsey. Their adventures, as we traveled with them through America, were highly entertaining.

Student directors for the acts were: Myrtle Sickler, "Hansel and Gretel"; Frances Hudson, "Woolley Westerners"; Tate Kirkpatrick, "Minstrel Show"; Helen Lindstrom, "Blue Mouse Cabaret".

The script for the Prologue and Interludes (with exception of the Durante - Disney Interlude) was written by Jean Ward, assisted by the Drama Class. The Durante Disney Interlude was written by Betty Evans. The idea for the theme of the vaudeville, "See America First", was suggested by Caroline Pressentin.

Miss Ruth Laubscher and Miss Margaret Wolf directed the entire production. Miss Louise Lederle taught the dance routines.

TEACHERS

Five new people assumed their positions as teachers in our faculty at the beginning of the school year. They are Ruth Laubscher, Margaret Wolf, Lou Hull, John Wyngarden, and John Monroe.

Miss Laubscher, a graduate of the University of Washington, replaced Miss Oliver and is teaching English, French, public speaking, and also coaches dramatic productions. She was formerly employed at Chehalis.

Miss Wolfe, a graduate of Taylor University, Indiana, replaced Miss Orndorff and is teaching English, dramatic art, and is Kumtux adviser.

We are fortunate to have two athletic coaches this year to replace Lyle Maskell. Mr. Lou Hull, a graduate of W.S.C. replaced Maskell as football coach. Last year he coached the Uptown Athletic club football team in Seattle. He also teaches manual training and health-civics.

Mr. Wyngarden, a graduate of the University of Washington, replaced Maskell as basketball and track coach. He formerly coached at Sultan. He also teaches commercial subjects.

Mr. Monroe, a graduate of the University of Washington, replaced Mr. Rice as music director. After acting as supervisor of music at Centralia for two years, Mr. Monroe resigned to play with the Seattle Symphony orchestra. Since 1931 he has been teaching at Ferndale High School. He also teaches American problems.

R. C. FORMAN

May 28—R. C. Forman, Educational adviser for the Puget Sound Power and Light Company, gave a speech on "the art of telling jokes."

GRATITUDE

They laughed when I sat down. Sarcastic remarks filled the air. My hands trembled; my heart pounded within me. I bit my lips. Then in firm resolve I prepared to begin. Out of the chaos there was silence—serene, tranquil, calm, unruffled silence. I started to write the retrospect. There was no applause.

MOUNT VERNON GAME

Nov. 29—With a tie or victory needed to win the Skagit County football championship, the Cubs pulled through like champions and defeated the Mount Vernon Bulldogs 14-0.

By virtue of this win from the Bulldogs, the Cubs became the Skagit County champions for the third successive year and also added another scalp to the Cubs' belt. The game before the Bulldog scrap by defeating the Bothell Snoqualmie Valley champs 9-0 and also laid claim to the mythical Northwest District championship by reason of Whatcom's forfeiting this battle with the Cubs because an ineligible man played for Whatcom.

Anacortes was the only team to score on the Cubs in Skagit County. Enumclaw and Whatcom were the only teams to cross the Cubs' goal line outside the County.

The Mount Vernon game climaxed one of the most successful seasons in recent years. Ten of the eleven regulars played their last game for Woolley High and went out of high school competition in a fitting manner by winning their last game.

Returning lettermen are: Captain Don Jones, Bill Ropes, backs; Bill Fyfe, Andy Heverling, ends; Norman Walker, Jim Heverling, tackles; Carl Johnson, Ed Childs, guards.

STUDENT LEADERS CONFERENCE

Nov. 12—Talks by Howard Tuttle, president of the A.S.U.W., and Professor Edmund S. Meany, "Washington's Grand Old Man", were two of the most interesting speeches given at the Student Leaders' Conference at the University of Washington.

Sedro-Woolley was represented at the Conference by Caroline Pressentin, Myrtle Sickler, John Carlson, and Tate Kirkpatrick.

OPERETTA

March 1—95 students were cast for the delightful production of the musical comedy, "In Old Vienna", presented in the high school auditorium this evening. It was under the supervision of Mr. John Monroe, music director.

The setting of the operetta was Vienna at carnival time, when all classes of society meet at the gala affair.

Catherine Greene as Iona, the Gypsy girl and Don Jones as the enterprising American pickle salesman, portrayed the chief romantic roles. Jessie Guernsey as the American girl abroad, and John Bishop as the struggling artist took the second leads.

The other major participants included Curtis Thresher, Reva Barr, Barney Davis, Earle Flood, Albert Nemo, Fred Bock, Myrtle Sickler, Joe Wilcox, and Ben Ferguson.

Miss Laubscher directed the dialogue, Miss Lederle coached the dance numbers. Under the direction of Miss Fischer, the members of the Home Economics club made the costumes for the fairies, fireflies, wood sprites, satyrs, and fauns.

MOVIES

The educational screen has served well in filling in the "dead" spots in our school program.

Fred Widmer of Mount Vernon took a three-reel movie of high school life. Caroline Pressentin and Tate Kirkpatrick represented typical high school students throughout the picture. The 15-minute movie was shown as part of the Good Will programs. They were of educational value as well as affording much amusement.

The immortal "Oliver Twist", by Charles Dickens, was shown through the courtesy of Mr. Stone of Portland, Oregon.

WHEN MEN PLAY BRIDGE

Mr. John Wyngarden, to the surprise of the assembled multitude at Utopia on a recent Good Will program, proved to be an excellent flibbertigibbet.

If you are in doubt as to the meaning of this $10 word, we suggest Webster.

JUNIOR PROM

Dec. 7—Dancing to the tunes of the Crystal Club orchestra, on the bottom of the deep sea, describes the atmosphere of the Junior Prom given this year.

A large crowd attended this annual affair, making it a financial success as well as a social success.

At intermission a special skit entitled "King Neptune," was presented.

The following committees were in charge: Eldeen Jensen, general chairman; decorations, Lucille Green; advertising, Betty Lou Parker; music, Don Jones; tickets, Bob Hunter; refreshments, Margaret Jensen.

DECLAMATION CONTEST

Jan. 19—Earle Flood was named the winner of the Declamation contest which was presented after several years' absence. He very excellently interpreted, "The Congo", by Vachael Lindsey.

Charline Elmore, who read "Life on an Ocean Wave", ran a close second.

The other contestants participating were: Doris Hawkins, who read, "An Expression School Romance"; Jean Ward, who read, "The Willing Performer"; Georgiana Higgins, who read, "Betty at the Baseball Game"; and Blake Thompson, who read, "Yacht Club Speech."

SCAVENGER HUNT

Dec. 9—An old shoe, a filbert, a 1930 newspaper, and Miss Helmer's signature were only a few of the oddities collected by the members of the dramatic arts class on their scavenger hunt held this evening.

THESPIANS ATTEND STUDIO PARTY

April 18—About thirty actors, actresses, and opera stars attended the unique studio party of the Thespian club this evening. The celebrities were seated upon pillows on the floor while they were served a sumptuous banquet.

Wallace Beery acted as toastmaster, Helen Hayes and Maude Adams were general hostesses.

The feature of an interesting program presented, was the presentation of a part of Shakespeare's "Kate and Pete" by Myrtle Sickler and Mr. Leatha.

FACULTY FOIBLES

This is one of the highlights of the year when the teachers perform. An unusually large crowd attended this production. The proceeds of the production were donated to the A.S.B. treasury for the benefit of the Kumtux.

Leads in a one-act play entitled "Red Yarn," were taken by Margaret Wolf as the heroine, Julia; Mr. Thornton, the hero, was portrayed by Vernon Leatha; Louise Lederle gave a realistic interpretation of the 12-year-old sister, Hildegard; Dorothy Jack was the likeable older sister, Nona; Mrs. Mabel Bergholz took the role of the mother, Mrs. Cummings; and last but not least, Gertrude Butler gave a splendid performance of the deaf Grandma Blessington.

Another feature of the evening's program was a series of live portraits called the Faculty Album. It evoked much amusement as the following teachers took part. The Misses Lederle, Laubscher, Jack, Butler, Betz, and Wolf; Messrs. Ward, Wyngarden, Hall, Hull, Monroe, Hogan, Foster, Armstrong and Muncaster; Mesdames Bergholz, Hull, and Greene.

The entire production was under the direction of Miss Ruth Laubscher.

BASKETBALL

An inexperienced squad of court capering, Cub casaba tossers had a difficult time going anywhere in an unusually fast Skagit County Basketball race this year. But with an almost complete squad of veterans back next year, greater accomplishments are expected of our next year's twine swishers.

This year's squad won three games and lost seven in actual conference play. The only graduating lettermen are Captain Sanford, forward, and Don James, center.

Next year's prospects are: George Lindley, William Ropes, Robert Petersen, Oliver Pooler, Kenneth Robinson, and Dave Parker.

I hope my friends my notes will will keep.

KUMTUX RETROSPECT

Eldeen Jensen, Editor

EDITORIAL

The student body is to be commended on the school spirit that has been shown this year. A victory is valueless without good sportsmanship. Not only at the athletic contests did this spirit evidence itself, but also in the sales of tickets and in the classrooms.

Much credit for this growing spirit is due new teachers, the incoming freshmen, and the students who have entered from other schools.

Let's continue the good work.

THE INQUIRY

What do you think has been the most outstanding school event this year?

GOOD WILL TOURS

Judged from the standpoint of promotion of good fellowship and real enjoyment, rather than earning of money, the Good Will tours were, I think, the most outstanding events of the year. The faculty and pupils of our high school, by going to the district schools, giving an evening of high class entertainment and becoming better acquainted with the parents of our pupils have made these "Good Will" programs indeed

THANKSGIVING GAME

Signals, 24, 36, 48, 22, 32, and it's a touchdown! The Cubs won another Thanksgiving game from Mount Vernon, taking with it the county championship for three consecutive years.

The game was hard fought and backed by the student body almost one hundred per cent.

FORENSICS

A record debate season for another year has drawn to a close with Sedro-Woolley losing only two debates out of nine.

The Cub team won the following debates from other schools: Anacortes, two; Mount Vernon, two; Everett, one; and Mount Baker, one.

Walter Smith, John Carlson, and Gordon Ellestad composed the Affirmative team; Peggy Swartz, Bob Hunter, and Bernice Alwood, the Negative team.

LUCK

Some boys are firm believers in the idea of luck. They attribute to it most of the success that someone else achieves. "He always gets the lucky 'breaks'" is a favorite expression when somebody achieves distinction. And yet if they could know the whole story they would find that in nine cases out of ten every "lucky break" came only at the end of a long trial of hard work and patient self-training.

When we study the lives of some of the outstanding men in American life today and the handicaps under which they struggled, we realize that no one is ever justified in saying, "I never had a chance". John D. Rockefeller once worked for five dollars a week. Henry Ford got his start as a boy in a power house at eleven dollars a week. Calvin Coolidge was a poor farmer's son. Thomas A. Edison was a newsboy on a train.

It was not "lucky breaks" that brought these men on top. These were men who created opportunities for themselves. Luck is wasted on a person who does not know how to take advantage of it.

Make a success in what you are doing now. For most of you it is a matter of school work, relationship in your home, and other social contacts. Work hard, develop your natural abilities, and try to help others. These are the foundations on which success is built. With this foundation it will not make any difference what kind of luck you have, because you alone have the secret of success in your hands.

GOOD WILL DEBATER

March 21—Robert K. Burns, University of Washington debater, spoke to the student body at a special assembly this morning. Mr. Burns told his experiences on the good-will tour that took him into twenty-three foreign countries during a fourteen months' period.

Mr. Burns participated in and won the decision of forty-eight debates with foreign students. Through the interests of eight organizations, he was sent to promote world peace and to exchange ideas with the youths of these countries.

OUR SENSE OF HUMOR

A donkey has two legs behind,
Two legs has he before,
You stand behind, before you see What the two behind are for.

"Poverty comes in and love goes out the door"—looking for a job.

Don't you just love the coyish, girlish girl who is always feeling goodish, or playfulish, or pain-in-the-neckish, and is "ished" most every other way?

You can't sneeze at hay fever!

A sharp nose indicates curiosity. A flattened nose often indicates too much curiosity.

Did you ever see a cross-eyed man dial a telephone?

The love that lies
In a woman's eyes
Very often
Lies and lies.

Whenever you think you are busy, think of a giraffe up to his ears in work.

RECORD SENIOR CLASS

SENIOR BALL

April 12—Amid Japanese lanterns, pagodas, cherry blossoms, and all things that represent Japan, the large crowd that attended the Senior Ball danced to the lilting music of the Crystal Club orchestra.

Jessie Guernsey, general chairman, is to be commended for the success of one of the most outstanding social events of the school calendar. The committee chairmen who worked with her were: Lois Jones, decoration; Stanley Ewing, music; Myrtle Sickler, invitations; John Carlson, tickets; Ben Ferguson, advertising; Louise Lammers, refreshments; Bus Tingley, clean-up.

S. W. SMOKER

March 29—An outstanding four-round bout was the feature on the all-amateur smoker card when Grant Sickler of Sedro-Woolley and Ben Benjamin of Anacortes fought to a draw.

The George Baldrige post of the American Legion and the Boys' S.W. Club jointly sponsored the athletic event. The boys' share of the proceeds will be used in paying for the public address system.

SICKLER, SANFORD STAR IN SENIOR PLAY

April 5—Myrtle Sickler and Harry Sanford portrayed the leading roles in the annual Senior play held in the high school auditorium. The rollicking comedy of adolescence, "Growing Pains," by Aurlia Rauveral proved most entertaining.

The plot of the story centered around the problems of the younger generation. Eighteen seniors took part in the production. They included: Howard Kerlee, Jean Ward, Elva Bergman, Bertha Meyers, Virginia Byham, Caroline Pressentin, Lois Jones, Virginia Fellows, Margot Chambers, Louise Lammers, Tate Kirkpatrick, Terry Adlington, Stanley Ewing, Blake Thompson, Ben Ferguson, and Charles Carroll.

RURAL RHYTHM

March 15—The high school gym was converted into a make-believe barn by the unique decorations used at the annual G.A.A. Barn Dance. Girls in gingham and boys in cords added to the rural scene. The Crystal Club orchestra played. Hazel Perry was general chairman.

ESSAY AWARDS

"How Can Youth Cooperate with the American Legion and Fidae to Take the Profit motive Out of War" was the title of the prize-winning essay written by Bernice Alwood, junior, in the essay contest which was sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Her essay will be entered in the state contest.

Helen Lindstrom, sophomore, won the local prize in the essay contest that was sponsored by the International Relations Committee of the National Council of the Teachers of English. The title used for her essay was: "The United States: The Good Neighbor."

SENIOR NUMERALS

The senior numerals have been the cause of much excitement this year. The numerals disappeared three times the first semester and finally were encased in a large silver colored frame, but, lo and behold, some bold person took frame and all. Some super sleuth is still trying to track down the villain.

115 STUDENTS WILL RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

May 29—"Citizens of Tomorrow" is the theme for the commencement exercises this year. In accordance with the newest trends in high school graduations the plans are to incorporate each member of the class into the program.

Extra-curricular activities will be emphasized. The seniors will show the public the advantages of activities as preparation for better "citizens of tomorrow".

Barney Davis will be valedictorian; Bertha Meyers, salutatorian. Jean Ward graduates with highest honors. Because she has attended Sedro-Woolley high school for only one year, she may not officially be called valedictorian of her class. Due recognition will be given her at the commencement exercises.

Jean, Bertha, and Barney have been active in extra-curricular activities as well as obtaining their high scholastic records. They are true representatives of the theme chosen for commencement.

The twelve seniors rating next highest in scholarship, alphabetically, are: Elva Bergman, Billy Biggerstaff, Charles Carroll, Clara Fadeff, Doris Halvorsen, Lois Jones, Warren Maddox, Fred Marchant, Mae Nelson, Caroline Pressentin, Walter Smith, and Marian Stroebel.

FATHER-SON NIGHT

March 22—Yogi Yorgeson, the distinguished Hindu mystic, was the first person to have the honor of speaking over our new public address system, to the three hundred fathers and sons who attended their annual Father-Son Night.

The highlight of the evening was a supremacy contest between the freshmen and sophomores. Blake Thompson, Boys' Club president, was general chairman of the evening.

BASEBALL TEAM

Burgess Buchanan, Edwin Childs, Joe Gasparac, Frank Gee, Leslie Harrison, Melvin Hoffman, Ernest Jensen, Ray L. Jewett, Tate Kirkpatrick, Ralph Lindbloom, Art Magnuson, Harvey Nichols, Clifford Price, Lyle Robbins, Marion Suiter, Vernon Tenneson, Don Jones.
